

Sanding corners, edges and angles

Procedure:

Small detail, big performance

Furniture often looks more appealing when the corners and edges are chamfered, i.e. sanded at a 45-degree angle. This task is perfect for the handy and versatile multi-sander or the specialists for hard-to-reach areas: delta sanders and compact belt sanders.

- 1 To chamfer wood edges, choose sanding paper with a grit of 120 to 180.
- 2 Switch on the sander, apply it at a 45-degree angle and slowly pull it over the edge of the workpiece.
- 3 Delta sanders and compact belt sanders are ideal for sanding in hard-to reach angles. Using the right attachment, you can also use the multi-sander for this task.
